TABERNACLES FEAST IS ON AMONG JEWS

Jews are celebrating the feast of the Tabernacles. The celebration for the feast, often called the Sukkoth festival, began Sunday evening and will continue until October 5.

Once a year Israel relives its love of the soil, and makes public avowal of the fact that even an industrial civilization depends primarily upon the elements of nature. This re-statement of love for and confidence in nature is a religious act.

Not Self-Complacent.
Judaism is a religion in the midst of the passions, aspirations and complications of life. Here religion has a duty as well as an opportunity. Judaism endeavors not merely to fortify men in their difficulties as to their daily bread but also to keep them from being lulled and lulled by the material success of the world.

Lessons of the Simple Life.
In its modern form the significance of the feast of the Sukkoth festival is made more effective by the fact that it occurs at the beginning of autumn, coincident with the increased activities of the economic agencies. It is, as it were, a timely lesson for each one to interpret his life as of larger scope, related to the national life and made possible in fulness only within it.

The "dwelling in booths" as characteristic of the biblical phase of the festival and observed as an archaic symbolism nowadays is a suggestive domestic ritual which reaffirms the lessons of "the simple life" and the democracy of the Jewish household. The five symbolic plants hint that, as the gift of God in nature, man and in their totality make human life more and more satisfactory, so the domestic ritual which reaffirms the character, may serve to make "society" an organization in which each man, woman and child has a place and can make a helpful contribution.

The Sukkoth festival is the culminating lesson of the series of holidays of the month.

14 Years Ago Today
From The Herald of This Date, 1904.

A communication received by the commercial club of Carlsbad, N. M., from E. Edwards, a Memphis civil engineer, who was sent out by the Kansas City, Lawrence and Pacific railroad to investigate the route for a railroad through the Panhandle by way of Carlsbad to El Paso, and who was employed by the club to represent Carlsbad in connection with the new road, stating that he has had a conference with the officials of the projected line and has learned that the Kansas City, Lawrence and Pacific people have bought lines from the Canadian Southern and Canadian Northern, together with other projected lines. The bonds of the Kansas City, Lawrence and Pacific were sold for $250,000. Capital of $1,000,000 is behind the project, he says, and prospects are exceedingly bright for Carlsbad.

Thirty-four miles of track of the St. Louis, Rocky Mountain and Pacific railroad between Preston and Cimarron, N. M., is now completed. Notification of the opening of the line for freight traffic has been issued by J. Van Houten, vice president and general manager of the road.

Rev. G. M. Gibbons, pastor of Trinity Methodist church, and his family are now installed in the new parsonage at 307 Moss avenue, adjoining the new church of the Trinity congregation. The new church is rapidly nearing completion and will be finished about the last of October. The Hays-Elliott wedding this evening will be the first to be solemnized in the new parsonage.

W. H. Grayson, assistant ticket agent of the U. S. arrived home yesterday afternoon from an extended trip through the east. Mrs. Grayson accompanied him and is now visiting at St. Louis for a couple of weeks.

Clarence North has returned home from Los Angeles, after a month's vacation.

W. W. Bacon, of the Texas Canyon Copper company, leaves for San Francisco tonight.

E. A. Harpender is in town with a car of ore from his mines at Jarilla.

DUAL ROLE BY PICTURE STAR AT ELLANAY

Antia Stewart in "The Yellow Typhoon," at the Ellanay theater, is seen in one of the best roles her managers have ever offered the public.

While it is almost a melodrama, it is interesting from start to finish and Miss Stewart is shown in a dual role that is very remarkable.

The story is written around twin sisters, a brutal, who is a hard working, honest girl, and a blond, whose passion is for the riches and the best of the world's goods. It becomes the duty of the blond, to the capacity of a social service operative of the United States, to follow the sister sister around the world and aid, unconsciously, in bringing her to justice.

The story of the play takes the spectators from New York into the heart of East life in Paris, then into an equally rapid existence in the Orient and then into the Philippines. An invention by an American that is to save American ships from submarines plays a big part in the drama from the time the Philippines are reached until it ends in Washington. German spies and secret agents have to be hunted down, and there is a murder mystery, an exciting ocean voyage and other features to hold the audience's eye, and a parrot plays a prominent part in the little game, although this is not revealed until the last.

There is no dearth of action in the play from first to last and some of the settings are gorgeous and elaborate, particularly the scene in an oriental gambling hall where the wayward blond sister stakes her life against the wealth of a man—and loses on the turn of a wheel. Her plays "real significant of life" and she plays "black, emblematic of men's hearts."

It is a picture that makes you rise up in your seat at times in expectancy and excitement. The fact that the same star appears on the screen in two roles at one time in many of the scenes makes it more than usually interesting and is a tribute to the talent to which the modern picture art has risen.

To add to the enjoyment of the picture at the Ellanay, manager Ben Lewis has installed an orchestra of five pieces for the evening shows. His new organist plays at the other shows.

HOROSCOPE

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 25, 1929.

DURING the early morning hours of this day Saturn is in Aquarius, aspect, according to astrology, but later Neptune, Mars and Mercury are in places that promise much to mortals.

The evil power of Saturn at this time is said by occultists to be part of the great plan that is to bring humanity into a closer relation to spiritual things. When material possessions and ambitions are eliminated, man and woman turn to the universal.

Real estate will be subject to extreme fluctuations in certain cities. Rooms will be found in depression which will not be lasting, however, for there will constantly grow a sentiment in favor of home ownership.

Some sort of anxiety affecting farmers and agriculturists may be apparent this autumn, but there is a good prospect of large returns on produce.

While prices of many staples may drop, food will continue to be costly for some time and restful never again be able to offer the old time schedule.

This should be a fortunate time for starting on ocean trips and an important foreign mission seems to be fore-shadowed.

All that is constructive, whether it be in the line of mere organization or whether it be in the line of building, is now subject to the most stimulating influences.

Again colonization and cooperation will come much into discussion and consideration.

Mercury gives brilliant promise to writers, especially to dramatists, who will find new opportunities for presentation of their plays. Since all the signs preface a remarkable growth of interest in the theater and theatrical affairs.

Messages of good luck may be expected while the stars are posted as they are today.

California is subjected to a wave of the stars making for sensational events. Not only in politics, but in commercial matters developments of great moment are prophesied.

While Mercury is read as foreboding success and initiative for writers, there is a friendly star that is believed to encourage oratory. Many women will speak, but few will convert, however, according to the stars.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the forecast of an active and successful year in which new avenues for money making will open.

Children born on this day are likely to be endowed with alert minds and strong bodies. They may be endowed with unusual beauty. Copyright, 1929, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

FIRE LOSS $1,000,000.
Perth Amboy, N. J., Sept. 24.—Fire of unknown origin yesterday destroyed the plant of the Barber Asphalt Paving company, near here, which covered several acres. The loss was more than $1,000,000.

FILM DRAMA AT THE RIALTO IS EXCELLENT

"Homespun Folks" was a splendid selection as the anniversary offering of the Rialto.

While it is not another "Miracle Man," such as the theater opened with a year ago, it is one of the strongest film dramas it has been the good fortune of El Pasoans to see in a long time.

Lloyd Hughes, in the role of the country boy, who becomes the hero of the piece, promises to become notable in the picture world. He is going to "mix it" with Charlie Ray in country boy parts. He has a natural, easy way about him that is taking.

While "Homespun Folks" is a rural drama, one where it would be easy to overdo the characters, this is not done in this case. They are all extremely natural. In this line the principal charm of the play.

Discovered and turned out by his father because he has become a lawyer—the father is one of a line of farmers who have filled the same soil for many generations—the hero whistles his effects to the nearest village and lives a precarious existence as a lawyer and the lover of the daughter of the village editor.

When the fire eating Democratic editor discovers the black heart of the Republican candidate for district attorney and exposes it, the hero is selected to make the race. He is elected to the office, but the editor's editorial assault and even his dad refuse to help him win until the editor makes a mistake.

Then the old man gets his blood up and gets out his wedding coat and his ledger and begins getting out the neighbors to vote.

The son is elected and his first duty is to prosecute the editor for murder of the man who has been forced to withdraw. Instead of prosecuting him, the young district attorney learned that he is not guilty and helps to free him. The party leaders and others decided to tar and feather the supposedly crooked prosecutor and the rest of the story has to do with how he got out of it all and re-established himself in the favor of everyone.

It is a film full of interest, with splendid photography and some excellent rural scenes. There are lots of laughs in it, too.

The picture is preceded by a prologue, which is introduced by a song, "Dear Old Mother O' Mine," written and sung by manager James Quinn. The manager's mother is the mother in the prologue and altogether the effect is very touching. He begins the song in the orchestra pit and ends it on the stage, his arms about his mother, with a rural setting appropriate for the picture that follows.

The enjoyment of the picture is heightened, as usual, by Eddie Fennerty and the Rialto orchestra. And there are added film attractions also. Altogether the Rialto's anniversary week program is a dandy, and amusement seekers will make no mistake in seeing it.
